bent but to do all he can to promote the material interests and commerce of both. Our people in California and the other States and Territories on the Pacific side have their eyes intently fixed on China, and Mr. Browne, being intimately identified with that section, is just the man to represent the United States. Let England attend to India and Abyssinia, France to her military theories and speculations as regards Asia, and Prussia to her colonizing ambition; they cannot rival us or prevent our progress in the development of China and trans-Pacific commerce. The seed of a mighty future is already sown, and it will only take a few years for the fruit to grow.

Emigration from Europe to the United States. The tide of emigration is again rolling to our shores. Vessels filled with their living freights and from different parts of Europe have already begun to arrive at this port. The Erin and the Deutschland, which arrived here on Saturday, brought respectively 1,184 and 520; in all, 1,700 passengers. Four steamers are known to have left Liverpool and Queenstown, all well filled with passengers and all hereward bound. The German ports, we learn, are equally busy. From a letter which we published in the HERALD of Monday, from the pen of our special correspondent at Berlin, it appears that, notwithstanding the improving prospects of Fatherland, emigration to America is becoming more and more a German passion. Between Good Friday and Easter Monday 547 Pomeranians passed through Berlin en route to New York; and this, we are told, is only a specimen of what is taking place in other States, counties and districts. Our correspondent mentions that the feudal and conservative journals are raising a wail of sorrow over the general exodus. From other cources we learn that emigration from Denmark and Sweden promises to be on a scale proportionally large. France and even Italy have caught the contagion; and it is certain that our French and Italian population will this summer be greatly increased. Come, and welcome, are the best and the worst we have to say. Every industrious immigrant is worth so much to us. He is no burden, but a positive gain. This, however, is no home for the idler. Ji'men will not work they must want. But to atl who are willing to be industrious and thrifty this country offers comfort and plenty. Some must remain with us here in New York, but the greater portion will move westward. Those who wait here will no doubt find employment and a home; but the true field for the immigrant is the prairie or the forest of the boundless West. There virgin nature waits to yield up her riches as a reward to industry and thrift.

If we have anything to deplore in this threatened immigration it is this: that many of the Danes and Swedes, the purest in blood, the healthiest and the most vigorous of the European races, have been foolish enough to cast in their lot with the Mormon fraternity. The Mormon elders are wise in their generation. In their attention to duty they are not forgetful of pleasure. In providing for the future they are by no means indifferent to the present. In preparing a seed who shall serve the Lord it must be honestly admitted that they have improved somewhat upon the ancient Jewish model. Seriously, the growth and activity of Mormonism are well worthy the attention of the religious societies.

Cypress Hills road, near the Jewish cemetery, was discovered to be on fire by one of the drivers of the East New York and Jamaics line, who immediately gave the alarm; but it was too late to save the building, although by his timely discovery probably several lives were saved. He immediately communicated his discovery to the inmates of the house, and the neighbors immediately turned out and repdered all the aid possible, but it was of no avail.

The fire companies from East New York proceeded to the scene of confiagration, and the house then having been nearly demolished the party set to work to consume the liquor that had been rolled out, and all present (with a few exceptions), having become directed more or less, the fire communicated to the outbuildings, barns and sheds, and there being mone to make an attempt to stay the proceedings of the flames they were destroyed. The loss will amount to about $25,000. There is a small insurgue.

LONDON, May 12-Evening. In the House of Commons this evening the reply of the Queen to the address to the Crown voted by that branch of the Legislature after its adoption of the three disendowment resolutions of Mr. Glad-stone, but based more particularly on the third resolve, was read to the members in session.

In her reply Queen Victoria says that, "relying or the wisdom of the House, her Majesty desires that her interest in the temporalities of the Irish Church will not in any way hinder parliamentary legislation on that subject."

Thus fortified in its position towards Caurch volum taryism the opposition moves immediately and Mr. Gladstone will to-morrow bring in a bill to suspend for the present the making of additional or new appointments in the Irish Church by the Crown.

THEATRE FRANCAIS-ENGLISH OPERA. - "Maritana" was given last night before a large and decidedly onable audience. We cannot add anything ner to what we have repeatedly written about this opera Although lacking in orchestration in some of the best scenes, yet its delightful melodies are ever grateful and popular. The "Harp in the Air," which was splendidly sung by Miss Richings, is one of the pest airs that we have ever heard in opera. Mrs. Seguin, nee Miss Zeida Harrison, opera. Mrs. Seguin, noe Miss Zelda Harrison, made the most decided success in the character of Lazarillo. Her exquisite contraito voice, one of the most grateful and sympathetic that America has yet produced, rondered the charming air in the beginning of the second act with rare effect. Such an accomplished artist is a valuable acquisition to any troupe. Castle, Campbell and Peakes, in the rôtes of Don Cæsar de Bazan, Don José and King Charles II., acquitted themselves creditably and won numerous encores. Mr. Behrens must exercise more control over the orchestra to satisfy his hearers.

The New York Theatre.—The escapades and rollics of the captivating Paris and the fair but dekig rolles of the captivating Paris and the fair but fickle Helen, as portrayed by the vivacious and sparkling sisters Irene and Sophie Worrell, in the lively musione of the most amusing theatrical attractions of the day, and is certainly better suited for the display of the peculiar abilities of these gifted young ladies than any piece in which they have as yet appeared together. The acting is fair, the singing good, and the play, considered as an absurd musical burlesque up on a burlesque, possesses an attraction almost as p otent as that which centuries ago drew around the potent as that which centuries ago drew around the original, erring brace of worthles in classic Troy all that was noble and brave in chivalrous Greece. The only grease discernible here, however, is concentrated upon one or two spots on the scenery, and might be more judiciously applied to machinery, which, by the way, works abominably; the scenery, too, is not so good as the play demands, neither does it harmonize or contrast nicely with the superb costumes of the popular sisters. Scenery alone very often plays an important part in the theatre, and it certainly should never be entirely ignored or permitted to deteriorate beyond the mediocre. Last evening the house was crowded and the playing and singing fully appreciated by the audience, as was attested by the vociferous rounds of applause that greeted Orestes, Heien and Paris, and which at times almost interrupted the piece. Miss Jennie Worreil as Orestes never appeared to better advantage, and has seldom been in finer voice, and, in fact, the same might be said of both the other sisters, irene and Sophie Worreil.
